

Do I want to do a PhD?

Join our open forum for women* and find answers!

Women* often ask themselves many questions before or during their doctorate:

Is a doctorate worthwhile for me? How can I finance it? Do caring responsibilities and a career in research go together? Is there a place for me in academia? Where can I find support for questions and problems?

Have you ever asked yourself these questions? Then join us and talk with women* who are currently pursuing a doctorate or have recently successfully completed one at the JGU about your concerns and experiences!

To ensure maximum accessibility for international participants, our female role models will present their experiences in English. Questions can be asked in English and German.

*Trans, inter, non-binary and gender diverse persons are welcome.

Program (Registration not required)

June 10, 2024, 4 - 5.30 pm, Online via MS Teams for Humanities and Social Sciences provided by GSHS (gshs@uni-mainz.de) & ProWeWin (prowewin@uni-mainz.de)

- » Theresa Mentrup, PhD Candidate at the Faculty 07, Anthropology and African Studies, JGU
- » Dr. Katharina Hartinger, Postdoc at the Faculty 03, Economics, JGU

scan to join

June 25, 2024, 3 - 4.30 pm, HS VII, ReWi II, Room 00-341
for Natural Sciences

provided by Network NatLife (natlife@uni-mainz.de) & ADA Lovelace Talent Development

- » Friederike Pizarz, PhD Candidate at the Faculty 10, Molecular Physiology
- » Elisabeth Quraishi, PhD Candidate at the Faculty 09, Organic Chemistry

scan to find the venue

©Staffeenvastock.adobe.com

FORSCHUNGSINITIATIVE
DES LANDES
RHEINLAND-PFALZ

GUTENBERG
GRADUATE SCHOOL of the Humanities and Social Sciences

PROWEWIN
Programm Weiblicher Wissenschaftsnachwuchs

Network NatLife

